Is code sufficient?

Evan Czaplicki @czaplic · Oct 11

Why is there so much conflict in online communities? My latest @strangeloop_stl talk outlines the problem, traces historical influences back to 1902, and suggests some alternate paths. I hope people find it helpful, or at least thought provoking!

The image shows a YouTube video player interface. At the top left is the strangeloop logo (two green interlocking circles) and the title "The Hard Parts of Open Source" followed by an ellipsis. To the right are a clock icon, a share icon, a "Watch later" button, and a "Share" button. The main title "The Hard Parts of Open Source" is displayed prominently in large white text on a blue background. Below the video player, the strangeloop logo is shown again. The date "Sept 27-28, 2018" and the website "thestrangeloop.com" are visible. The video progress bar shows "0:08 / 47:15". At the bottom, there are standard YouTube controls for play, volume, and full screen, along with the text "The Hard Parts of Open Source" by Evan Czaplicki.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH YOU PEOPLE? DO YOU EVER WRITE DOCUMENTATION FOR YOUR CODE?
THIS IS UTTERLY RIDICULOUS.

-The Dark Knight

Am I powerless?

The virtues of a programmer are:
laziness, impatience, and hubris

Virtue:

A habit which brings us closer to our community's vision for well-being

The virtues of community sound like their opposites:
diligence, patience, and humility
-Larry Wall

Open Source is a Mirror

What am I reflecting?

"The person who loves their dream of community will destroy community, but the person who loves those around them will create community" -Bonhoeffer
